Role Of Institutions in Enhancing Farmer's Welfare

"Jai Jawan Jai KIsan" has been a very popular slogan in Indian history, agriculture has been one of the prominent field in India. Agriculture sector contributes 18% in the Indian GDP, it also contribute at large scale in the employment of the work force in the country. In order to promote agriculture in the country it is a paramount responsibility of the Indian Government as well as the people of the country to enhance, develop, and to escalate the institution whether it be government or private so that it assist in the welfare of the farmers in the country.

There are diverse institution which aids for the welfare of the farmers, these institutions are their to prosecute a solution to overcome inequality, the gap, biased information to the farmers in the countryside, these institutions are also required to manage information, mediation of farmers information and education for each member.

NABARD

The mentioned institutes has been initially been set up as a development bank for promoting agriculture and rural development, its principal function is to provide refinance for rural credit disbursed by the state co-operative banks, regional banks and other institutions as approved by RBI. It takes measures for improving absorptive capacity of credit delivery system, including monitoring, formulations for rehabilitation schemes, training of personnel. It monitor and evaluate projects refinanced by it. It provide training facilities to the institutions working in the field of rural upliftment.

RBI

The Reserve bank of India Act 1934 sets the Reserve Bank the responsibility of developing an institutional credit system for the agriculture sector in the country. Which has given rise to the Agriculture Credit Department in 1935, whose main task was to develop co-operative credit movement in agriculture finance.

The Financial Inclusion And Development Department of RBI has introduced schemes such as :-

1)Kisan credit card scheme- which fulfills crop loan requirements and partly for consumption purpose

2)Prompt repayments of crop loan has several benefits such as, short-term crop loan upto 3lakh at a subsidized interest rate of 7% that could go down to 4% on prompt repayment.

3)Avoid distress sale of farms produce, these produce can stored in the warehouse against warehouse receipt.

4)Pradhan mantra fasal bima yojana.

Indian Agriculture Research Institute (IARI)

The institute has evident roots long back from 1905. The institute has been successfully providing policies, plans and programmes to serve the need of the nation. It has made significant contribution in the development of improved cultivators and their relevant production and processing technologies. The institute has its school for crop improvement, plant protection, basic sciences, natural resource management, social science.

Fool Corporation Of India (FCI)

It was set up under the act Food corporation act 1964 in order to support operation for safeguarding. The interest of the farmers, distributing food grains throughout the country, maintaining operational and buffer stocks of food grains to ensure national food security

Section 13 of the Food Corporation of India Act 1964 describes the function of the corporation

It is the primary duty to undertake the purchase, storage, movement, transport, distribution, and scale of food grains and other foodstuffs.

With previous approval of the central government it may promote production of food grain and other foodstuffs. Set up or assist in setting up rice flour mills for processing of food grains and other food stuffs.

Indian Council Of Agricultural Research (ICAR)

The ICAR it self has sixty four (64) institutions which aids in the welfare of the farmers in the nations

NGO's

There are several Ngo's in the nation which provide aid to the farmer's and their families, working from their crop to their overall development. The Rights, interest, development, information, policies, awareness, financial aids, education, disaster management, irrigation, unfaithful climate, science and technology, veterinary services etc.. are been protected by these ngo's:-

Some of the NGO named as
1)Nanndi Foundation
2)ASA
3)PRADAN
4)SRIJAN
5)Indian society of agri-business professional
6)NAAM foundations
And many more..

Beneficial Government Scheme are been introduce by the central as well as the state government so as to aid the farmers
Some of the scheme named as
1)Rashtriya Gokul Mission
2)Pashu Sanjivni Scheme
3)KAALIA in odisha
4)Dairy Processing & Infrastructure Development Fund (DIDF)

While inaugurating the Krishi Mela at the Indian agriculture research institute, PM Modi appealed or a "three-pillared"
Approach to farming which include crop farming, agro forestry and animal husbandry. Loan waiver is an another provision available at the center and state government. It has been observed up to December 2018, 8 states have been granted a loan waiver to the farmers.

Conclusion

While over 57% of India's population depends on agriculture for livelihood. Most farmers in India diversify into different subsectors in an attempt to boost, and often mitigate risk. Indian agriculture has come a long way, with the country among the world's top seven food exporters today. However this positive headline obscures continuing challenges with farms productivity and incomes. While agriculture ahs progressed significantly, most farmers have not.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

It is certified that Ms.Oshin Anand Chauhan daughter of Mr.Anand Chauhan, pursuing B.A.L.LB. (5 Years Course) from the Modern Law College, Pune University, remained directly under my supervision and worked in my Court as an Intern from 7th to 31st December, 2019. During this period I have closely seen her work. She is hardworking and enterprising. Whatever assignments given to her, she has accomplished them with a professional touch. Her work, conduct and behaviour are excellent. I found her 'I.Q.' quiet appreciable. She has an excellent orientation for research in law.

I wish her success in life.
